Inspired by Jackson Pollack - Jacque Lynn Keller is an award-winning artist whose work has been exhibited internationally. Her 40-year professional art career began by painting murals for homes and businesses while she studied at Arizona State University. The Royal Academy of Arts, London, has included her work in their registry since 1995. She has been in numerous international and national exhibitions whose themes include the history of women (Florida), investigating war in a War Forum Exhibition (Chicago), colorful festival fun (Arizona), the nature of work in acrylic (Tacoma), and more. She is owner/artist of Quan'tum Art, Inc. with artist John Gleason and Suzanne Larson.
